Jakobswegle

This 2,5 kilometre (1,55 mi) long nature trail is a miniature version of the famous Camino de Santiago / Way of St. James.

The circular trail represents the route from Giengen to Santiago the Compostela on a scale of 1:1000. It is completed by a 1,7 kilometre (1,05 mi) long section that is part of the original Camino de Santiago / Way of St. James (which historically proven leads through Giengen). Along this trail information boards are providing interesting facts about the major European pilgrim route.

Wooden sculpture trail with adventure playground

An exciting path for the whole family.

Close to the Steiff Museum, an artfully designed trail with wooden sculptures along the way leads to a fantastic adventure playground at the end of the pedestrian zone. The trail is accompanied by a fairy-tale story about the lively heraldic animal of Giengen.
Large panels tell the story of a unicorn named "Panschi" that wants to learn how to fly. On the path, little adventurers can solve fascinating tasks in a riddle magazine. As a reward, stickers can be applied to the magazine.
The enjoyable path ends in a unique, lovingly and creatively designed adventure playground with high-quality wooden equipment where children can play and splash around.

Alte Mühle Burgberg

This lovingly restored mill dates back to 1344 and draws you into the Middle Ages.

The historical monument has been converted into a place that demonstrates how people lived and worked hundreds of years ago and a museum that displays one of Germany's largest mill wheels. One part of the complex is dedicated to Burgberg born Maria von Linden, the first female German professor for natural sciences. The enclosed mill garden and the historic barn complete your trip to the past with art, culture and local culinary delights.
